

THE FINIAL COMPANY

High quality, hand finished finials and every one is custom.

We, at The Finial Company, are dedicated to innovation in everything we do – in design, in manufacturing research, in our unsurpassed production flexibility and in the way we serve our clients. We specialize in linking hand-crafted workmanship with process experimentation and, above all, in keeping a constant eye on quality. Add our specialized know-how and our desire, and our ability to meet the specific design vision of discriminating designers, and you'll have a good picture of what makes us unique in our industry.

Founded in 1996, The Finial Company has continuously enjoyed measurable annual growth and leadership status as a result of our crystal clear focus on the “to-the-trade” market segment, selling exclusively to the design trade through an extensive network of professional window treatment and drapery fabric distributors.

The Finial Company catalog presents a comprehensive line of fine drapery hardware in the classic and traditional forms you expect, and introduces unexpected new collections ranging from elaborations of classic forms to distinctly modern art forms. True to our history in manufacturing finials to satisfy a broad range of industry needs and individual design preferences, our unmatched range of artisan finishes – applied right here in Dallas – are applicable to every piece we produce. In this way, every finial is crafted and delivered as a custom product.

It is our pleasure to present our comprehensive selection of finials – the classic and traditional favorites and our most current and unique collections. And we're especially pleased to continue to meet your needs.

Martha Beck, President

